

"Athanasian" Creed

The so-called Athanasian Creed, also called "Quicumque" after the first word of the Latin text does not originate with Athanasius, but was initially written in Latin between the end of the 4th and the end of the 6th century. It contains the one of the clearest formulations of the mystery of the Trinity and the Incarnation.

Whoever wills to be in a state of salvation, before all things it is necessary that he hold the catholic<sup>1</sup> faith, which except everyone shall have kept whole and undefiled without doubt he will perish eternally. Now the catholic<sup>1</sup> faith is that we worship One God in Trinity and Trinity in Unity, neither confounding the Persons nor dividing the substance.

For there is one Person of the Father, another of the Son, another of the Holy Spirit.

But the Godhead of the Father, of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, is One, the Glory equal, the Majesty coeternal.

Such as the Father is, such is the Son, and such is the Holy Spirit;

the Father uncreated, the Son uncreated, and the Holy Spirit uncreated;

the Father infinite, the Son infinite, and the Holy Spirit infinite;

the Father eternal, the Son eternal, and the Holy Spirit eternal.

And yet not three eternal but one eternal, as also not three infinites, nor three uncreated, but one uncreated, and one infinite.

So, likewise, the Father is almighty, the Son almighty, and the Holy Spirit almighty; and yet not three almighties but one almighty.

So the Father is God, the Son God, and the Holy Spirit God;

and yet not three Gods but one God.

So the Father is Lord, the Son Lord, and the Holy Spirit Lord;

and yet not three Lords but one Lord.

For like as we are compelled by Christian truth to acknowledge every Person by Himself to be both God and Lord;

so are we forbidden by the catholic<sup>1</sup> religion to say, there be three Gods or three Lords.

The Father is made of none, neither created nor begotten.

The Son is of the Father alone, not made nor created but begotten.

The Holy Spirit is of the Father and the Son, not made nor created nor begotten but proceeding.

So there is one Father not three Fathers, one Son not three Sons, and one Holy Spirit not three Holy Spirits.

And in this Trinity there is nothing before or after, nothing greater or less, but the whole three Persons are coeternal together and coequal.

So that in all things, as is aforesaid, the Trinity in Unity and the Unity in Trinity is to be worshipped.

He therefore who wills to be in a state of salvation, let him think thus of the Trinity.

But it is necessary to eternal salvation that he also believes faithfully the Incarnation of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The right faith therefore is that we believe and confess that our Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is God and Man.

He is God of the substance of the Father begotten before the worlds, and He is man of the substance of His mother born in the world;

perfect God, perfect man subsisting of a reasoning soul and human flesh;

equal to the Father as touching His Godhead, inferior to the Father as touching His Manhood.

Who although He be God and Man yet He is not two but one Christ;

one however not by conversion of the Godhead in the flesh, but by taking of the Manhood in God;

one altogether not by confusion of substance but by unity of Person.

For as the reasoning soul and flesh is one man, so God and Man is one Christ.

Who suffered for our salvation, descended to the dead, rose again from the dead, ascended into heaven, sits at the right hand of the Father, from whence He shall come to judge the living and the dead.

At whose coming all men shall rise again with their bodies and shall give account for their own works.

And they that have done good shall go into life eternal, and they who indeed have done evil into eternal fire.

This is the catholic<sup>1</sup> faith, which except a man shall have believed faithfully and firmly he cannot be in a state of salvation.

Footnotes:

1. We use the term "Catholic" not in reference to a denomination, but in its original meaning: general, universal. There is only one church of Jesus Christ, the fellowship of those who hold to "the faith which was once for all handed down to the saints" (Jude 3).
